EDITOR'S NOTEBOOK

Dear Archie Readers,

Now that most of you are more than halfway through the school year, along with the entire Archie Comics' staff, I decided that you could use a break. A spring break. To be more specific, ARCHIE'S SPRING BREAK #1! Yessiree, guys and gals, it was bound to happen. In this brand new 48-PAGE GIANT SPECIAL, Archie and his friends invade Florida's beaches. However, with Ms. Grundy and their principal Mr. Weatherbee along as chaperones, everything should be under control. Yeah...right! More like out of control. Especially when the kids' parents get an eyeful of their "little darlings" on the family TV set. This is definitely an issue you won't want to miss. Look for it on sale March 26, 1996.

For many years MAD DR. DOOM has tried to achieve global domination. Little Archie has always been a thorn in his side. Whenever Dr. Doom would come close to reaching his ultimate goal, Archie would thwart his plans. It's now years later, Archie is a teenager, computers and Virtual Reality have come to Riverdale. And yes, so has Mad Dr. Doom. You'd think that after all these years, Dr. D would call it quits. But he's obsessed with trying to conquer the world, and at the same time outwit his nemesis Archie. Knowing Archie as we all do, you'd think that shouldn't be a problem. But this is a comic book, and Mad Dr. Doom is green; Archie has what appears to be a checkerboard on the side of his head. Whadaya expect? Anyway, pick up a copy of WORLD OF ARCHIE #19 JUNE and be sure to read "Here VR, Dr. Doom and Me!" It's also on sale March 26.

BY SAM ROSEN

Dear Cheryl,
I had a boyfriend. He said that he liked me. I believed him until I saw him kiss my sister. What should I do? -- Kristine, Pittsburgh, PA

Dear Kristine,
Though I've never had that particular problem of losing a guy to another girl, I imagine it can be painful. And especially losing him to your sister! My advice is: tell him you're glad you and he broke up, because you are now dating (insert your favorite male celebrity). Then ask your sister to do the only rightful thing--dump him. It's tacky for a boy to date different family members. -- Cheryl

Dear Cheryl,
A boy in my class bought his girlfriend a rose. I want my boyfriend to get me a rose. How do I ask him? -- Girl who wants a rose, Flippin, AR

Dear Girl who wants a rose,
The secret is not to ASK for a rose. The secret is to drop HINTS that you want a rose. Tell your boyfriend how much you love roses. Go on and on about how much you would love a rose. Then when he finally gets you one, act surprised and tell him how sweet it was for him to think of it. -- Cheryl

Dear Cheryl,
I like my friend's older brother. He knows me, and he makes me laugh. I don't know if he likes me. How do I find out? -- Johanne, Saint-Laurent, Canada

Dear Johanne,
Make sure you look really great whenever you go to your friend's house. Dress in your tightest outfit, spray on a lot of perfume, and put your hair in a pretty new style. Then send your friend on little errands, and ask her brother lots of questions about himself. If he isn't interested already, he will be. -- Cheryl

Dear Cheryl,
I am twelve years old. I like this boy because he's really cute and nice. But the problem is that he's my best friend's boyfriend. -- Tania, Los Angeles, CA

Dear Tania,
It's so true that the cutest boys are always your best friend's boyfriend. Why is that? Anyway, the secret is to flirt with this guy when your friend's not around, and wink at him when she's not looking. Then if your friend ever finds out what you're up to, play dumb! -- Cheryl

Dear Cheryl,
I was going out with two boys at once. Then I told my best friend Marcie. She was soooo jealous! She went and told them. Now my boyfriends are having second thoughts about me. What should I do? -- Jan, Seattle, WA

Dear Jan,
Two guys are definitely better than one, as long as neither one finds out! But now since these two are onto your scheme, you better choose one. You don't want two broken hearts on your hands. Let the guys fight over you as long as possible. Then pick the one who is cuter and has more money. -- Cheryl

Dear Cheryl,
There is only one boy in my class who I like. But the problem is he likes another girl! He and I are good friends and he tells me his secrets. But he told me he likes me second best! -- Mad and Upset, Ontario, Canada

Dear Mad and Upset,
Any girl with an ounce of self-respect doesn't stand for being second best. Here's what to do: Ask a few guys to talk about how special you are, right in front of this guy. If he's a true competitive male, he'll decide he wants to win the prize: you. Then you'll become number one in his eyes. -- Cheryl
